

Emergency Planning Zone

The area approximately 10 miles around the Vermont Yankee is called the Emergency Planning Zone. Plans have been developed for warning and protecting people within this 10-mile area. Communities in the Emergency Planning Zone are:

Massachusetts:

- Bernardston*
- Colrain
- Gill
- Greenfield
- Leyden*
- Northfield
- Warwick

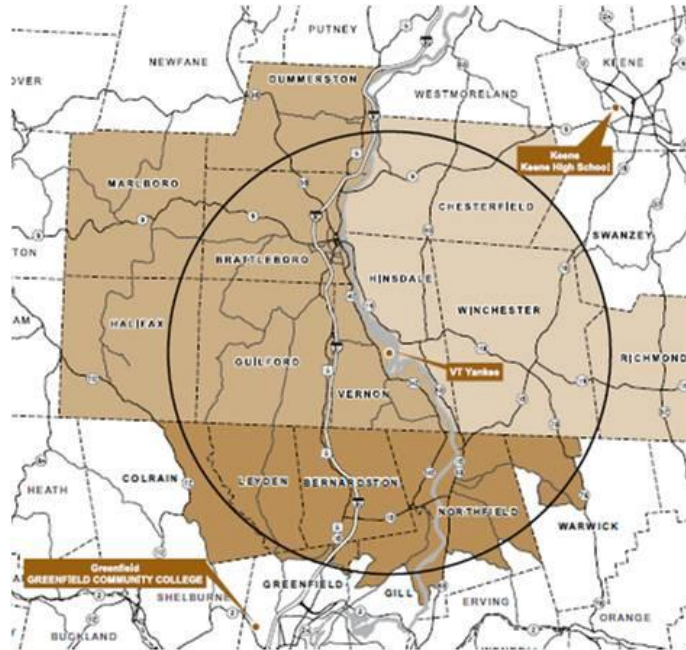

Vermont:

- Brattleboro*
- Dummerston*
- Guilford*
- Halifax*
- Marlboro*
- Vernon*

* The entire town is in the Emergency Planning Zone

New Hampshire:

- Chesterfield*
- Hinsdale*
- Richmond*
- Swanzey
- Winchester*

The Emergency Planning Zone is further divided into sub-areas called Emergency Response Planning Areas (ERPA). To be prepared for an emergency, you will need to determine the number of the Emergency Response Planning Area you live or work in. Knowing your Emergency Response Planning Area, or Emergency Response Planning Area number, is very important since any emergency instructions that you will receive on radio and TV will be for specific Emergency Response Planning Areas. The broadcasts will inform people, depending upon which Emergency Response Planning Area they are in, about protective actions they should take.

Remember, in a public emergency, do not use your telephone except to request help if you need it.

For information, listen to a local Emergency Alert System radio station.

It is important to leave telephone lines open and emergency workers available for people who need immediate help.
